Renovated Roosevelt Center Is Noted in Post Critic's Cityscape

by Sandra A. Lange

For those of us who regularly read Benjamin Forgey's "Cityscape" column in the Washington Post and expect to encounter a thoughtful review of the Frank Gehry addition to the Corcoran Art Museum or a similar story, it was startling to see Greenbelt's Roosevelt Mall featured in the July 8 issue. Three photographs highlighted the City of Greenbelt's recent renovation. The newly-installed Greenbelt Theatre sign and plaza area appeared in two photographs. The third, large photograph was dominated by Lenore Thomas' Mother and Child statue benignly overlooking a typical community event, in this case the Friends of the Greenbelt Museum's flea market.

Forgey was alerted to Greenbelt's renovation of the Roosevelt Mall by Sharon Bradley-Papp, the landscape architect who designed it. Bradley-Papp, who grew up in Greenbelt as the granddaughter of pioneer residents, sent Forgey a press packet and talked with him at length about the renovation. She presented him with a copy of "Greenbelt: History of a New Town." He also visited the Greenbelt Library.

Bradley-Papp commented that Forgey was familiar with Greenbelt as a National Landmark community and did quite a bit of research before he came out to see the renovation. This is evident from his description of the Mall: "With its streamlined curves and setbacks, the commercial buildings frame the rather intimate, rectangular civic plaza."

Forgey applauds Bradley-Papp's sensitive design, "combin[ing] the openness and focus of the original [design], some of the shade that characterized the '70s plan and a dollop of contemporary liveliness. It is altogether unpretentious—and extremely successful," he observes.

Bradley-Papp was very pleased with the review, as Forgey is known to be an objective, but sometimes harsh, critic. She was especially pleased because "he focused on the bigger picture." Forgey pointed out that the links between new spaces like the aquatic center and the civic space were really gone, and that the city needed to proceed with the second phase of the Roosevelt Center design — to restore the connections between the original and the newer areas. Bradley-Papp confirmed his view, noting that the second phase "will be much smaller and much less expensive."

Forgey concludes the article by urging that the city do something about "those helter-skelter parking lots," recognizing that "we can still learn something from the innovative original Greenbelt plan, with its emphasis on affordability, public spaces and pedestrian circulation, and its sensitivity to nature."

St. Hugh's Alumni Gather Here, Toast School's 50th Anniversary

by Bucky Fitzgerald

Smiles, hugs, and handshakes were in abundance when the Saint Hugh's Alumni Association held a reunion celebrating the 50th Anniversary of St. Hugh's School, during the weekend of July 22-23. The festivities began with a Saturday night mixer in Grenoble Hall attended by more than 260 people. The Alumni Mass on Sunday morning was followed by a presentation at Grenoble Hall and then an Open House in the school. The final event of the reunion was a cook-out and picnic held on the lawn between the school and the church.

Mixer

One of the highlights of the mixer was the attendance of several teachers, including Joanne Kellaher, Jane Carey, and Helen Aulizio. Aulizio, whose last year of teaching at St. Hugh's was 1969, traveled from Lakeland, Florida, where she works out three times a week at a gym. She proved she is truly 85 years "young" by drawing the winning 50/50 raffle ticket well after midnight. Patti Bransky Magill ('73), the lucky winner, generously donated all of the money to the school. Richard Castaldi ('58) brought a proclamation from the Governor's office in honor of the anniversary, which will be framed and displayed in the school.

Grenoble Hall had been beautifully decorated in the school colors, blue and white, by Beth Barber Fendley ('73). Five tables, one for each decade of the school's existence, were set up to display memorabilia. Mark Gregory, husband of Kathy Lundregan Gregory ('69), was kept busy taking photographs of various classes whose members wanted a memento of the event. Those not reminiscing or catching up with former classmates were kept busy eating, drinking, and dancing until the DJ played the final song of the night.

Alumni Mass

The next morning in the Alumni Mass, Jim McEvoy ('70) served as Lector, while gifts were presented by Tom Noel ('75), Harry Noel ('71), and Mike Noel ('68). A letter from Father Thomas Crowley, St. Hugh's Pastor, who was on vacation, which welcomed the alumni home, was printed in the church bulletin. Several former teachers who had not been at the mixer, including former principal Sister Elizabeth Raffo, attended Mass.

Following the mass Liz Whelan, the current St. Hugh's principal, gave a presentation entitled "Past, Present, and Future."

Rena Hull, Local Activist Is Always Youth Oriented

by Virginia Beauchamp

So did anything change during the last 12 months for Rena Hull since she was named Outstanding Citizen of 1999? Well, yes — if you count a young man added to a household that previously, besides Rena and her husband, Larry, had held only three young daughters.

A native of Fulda, near Frankfurt, Germany, Felix Pfleger settled last fall as a junior into the academic program at Eleanor Roosevelt High School and into the peripatetic life style of the Hulls in Greenbelt and beyond. By the time he had completed his school year in America, he had wetted his feet in both oceans and set them on dry land in 20 different states.

He had seen Death Valley and some Aztec ruins, Fishermen's

Wharf in San Francisco, the giant sequoias in Muir Woods, a genuine geyser, the Grand Canyon, and nearby Harper's Ferry. To say nothing, of course, of our nation's capital. As Greenbelters already know, when Rena Hull takes on a volunteer role — in this case, surrogate mother to an exchange student — she does it with panache.

Focused on Youth

She has always been youth-oriented. As her three daughters were growing up, she served 13 years as a Girl Scout leader (first with a Brownie troop). She was active in the PTSA of her daughters' schools and still heads the senior youth group program at the Greenbelt Community Church. When she was herself a child growing up in Greenbelt,

John Pak Achievements Credited to ADA, ERHS

by Nelda Young

Imagine going to work on the Metro every morning wearing a blindfold. Sounds scary, doesn't it? Seventeen-year-old, visually impaired Greenbelter John Pak faces a comparable challenge. This summer he is a student intern in the Executive Office for U. S. Attorneys in Washington. He says, "I use Metrorail and paratransit to commute to work and find them satisfactory."

On July 26 Pak, a senior this fall at Eleanor Roosevelt High School (ERHS), testified before the Senate Committee on Health, Education, Labor and Pensions. He addressed the challenge of the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA): Opening Doors to the Workplace.

Barbara Luther, a teacher at ERHS, recommended the High School/High Tech work program of Prince George's and Montgomery counties to Pak and after mulling it over, he applied and was subsequently hired. His duties involve confirming that the U. S. Attorneys' internet and intranet sites and Department of Justice sites are compliant with Section 508 of ADA in reference to verbal screen reader software for persons with visual impairments and/or dyslexia.

Born in Baltimore to Korean immigrant parents, Pak settled in Greenbelt in time to attend sixth grade at Magnolia Elementary School and progress through Robert Goddard Middle School to ERHS, where he studies now.

Totally Blind

The oxygen that kept Pak alive after being born four months premature stunted the development of his retinas, leaving him totally blind. His mother, like many mothers, "can be protective," Pak

Letters to the Editor

Thanks to Neighbors Who Looked for Cat

On Tuesday, May 16, my beloved indoor cat named Lady Rae escaped through a broken screen from our second-story bedroom window. I came home from work that day to discover that she was gone, and I was absolutely distraught. I want to send a belated, yet heartfelt, thank you to the wonderful neighbors who looked for her and who expressed or simply felt concern about the situation and to say that we found her several days after she disappeared.

My husband set up a cage with a trap door in our backyard, and he woke me up the Saturday after she had disappeared to tell me that our Lady was in the trap and very unhappy with her plight. The minute we let her out of the cage, she clung to me, and she continued to follow me around all day as if to say, "Fix that screen! Don't let me out again!" We have since cleaned her up and taken her to the veterinarian for a check-up and she has been fine and healthy ever since.

I knew so few of my neighbors before Rae's escape, but I encountered so many wonderful souls as we searched for her and posted flyers throughout our area of Greenbelt. To all of those people I have not already informed of her return to us, thank you so much for your concern and care.

Amy R. Shay

Open Letter

To Dr. Iris Metts, Superintendent, Prince George's County School System:

I can not accept your staff's premise that a $60 million cut by the County Council and County Executive in your budget is the primary reason for these draconian cuts in school base and CSI funding in the 23rd District, among others.

The timing of these cuts, some 20 working days before the beginning of the year, is unconscionable and unacceptable in these circumstances. It will do irreparable harm to teachers, school staffing, and students. I respectfully implore you to delay these cuts and/or find transitional funding to alleviate your devastating blow to the 90 schools hit.

The Governor and the General Assembly gave the county extraordinary increases in educational and construction funding in the last session, by far the most ever. Our County Executive, Wayne Curry, called our results for the county at the end of the session, "Christmas in April." You made similar comments.

In this connection, I realize all schools require additional funding, reorganization, and more accountability, including the 93 schools which received additional funding in your subject plan. However, if you can not find funding to delay these cuts in the 90 schools, please give us an opportunity to petition the Governor and the State Board of Education of the General Assembly for transition funding in this regard.

Moreover, have you asked the County Executive for emergency supplemental help? The County Executive and the entire County Council could transfer the $9.3 million funding for the new waste transfer station next to Bowie State University and Patuxent Wildlife Research Center to your education budget. This would solve two problems at once.

Since 1998, the Governor and the General Assembly have included direct state education aid to Prince George's County by 27.1% for a total of $428,277,785 and school construction funding of $123,800,000 among other benefits. We also have enabled retired teachers and principals to be rehired without losing pension benefits. For the first time these rehires are receiving a competitive wage and, in turn, help our teacher shortage problems. I promise also that we will work to seek additional funding in the next session to address these untimely cuts.

Lastly, I have been in contact with the Governor, Attorney General, our General Assembly educational experts, and the State Board of Education for help. Please contact me for a meeting as soon as you return.

Leo Green, State Senator
23rd District of Maryland

Concerning GHI Pets

The GHI Pet Subcommittee would like to acknowledge the letters that we have received from GHI members since the inception of the committee. It is clear that a number of GHI members have pet-related concerns. As we are still in the process of developing procedures, educational materials and gathering existing information, we thought the pet-owning community might like to hear about the most frequent complaints we are receiving.

We were surprised to receive as many complaints about cats being permitted to run loose as complaints about dogs off-leash. A major problem throughout the community concerns dogs and prolonged barking. Members were particularly upset about dogs allowed to bark at night and before 8 a.m.

We received several touching letters from members who were very upset about the safety and health of pets in their courts. For example, several pets had not been spayed or neutered and were having litter after litter. Another concern was pets that clearly were not receiving their shots or being taken to the vet when they needed care. We find it hard to believe that any pet owner could plead ignorance about the importance of shots and basic vet care.

Another complaint concerns pets being left in their yards unsupervised for hours. Not only do these dogs often become a nuisance to the surrounding neighbors, the animals are also at risk. Many people may not realize that Maryland is one of the states where illegal dog fighting is a problem. Many of the dogs that disappear from suburban yards are taken for use as practice animals for vicious fighting dogs.

So what is the Pet Subcommittee going to do to address these issues? We are working on a checklist that we will use as we visit a court after receiving a pet complaint. We will use the checklist to identify situations in the entire court that violate GHI's pet regulations. In the event that a situation is observed that indicates an animal is in severe distress, the Prince George's County Animal Management Division (301-499-8300) or the Animal Control Commission (301-883-6009) will be notified. (GHI members are free to call these numbers.) For all complaints, a letter will be mailed to the entire court indicating any problems that were identified as well as acknowledging examples of responsible pet ownership that were observed. Educational materials or referrals that might help the owner understand and correct the problem also will be included. If the problems continue, there are other steps that may be taken by the Pet Subcommittee.

Our goal is for the Greenbelt Community to embrace responsible pet ownership. We appreciate your patience as we develop and finalize our procedures.

The GHI Pet Subcommittee
— Kris White, Chair

Host Families Needed For Foreign Students

World Heritage, a non-profit, public benefit organization, is seeking families across America to host high school boys and girls from Germany, Spain, France, Thailand, Japan and the former Soviet Union countries who are coming to the United States for the next academic school year.

These personable and academically select exchange students speak English, are bright, curious and eager to learn about this country through living as part of a family and attending high school for a full school year.

Those persons interested in obtaining more information about becoming a host family or becoming an exchange student should contact Guy York at 1-800-785-9040 or check out the website at www.worldheritage.org.

Golden Age Club

by Ruth Huggins

At the July 26 meeting, Arlene Souser of the Membership Committee welcomed guests Lucy Cruz and Elsie Forbes. Joe Wilkinson announced that the Gaitor Walking Club met at Beltway Plaza Center Court. Light refreshments were served, and a program was held on tap dancing.

The guide is appropriate for breast cancer patients as well as doctors, nurses, social workers and others who provide service to breast cancer patients.

ERHS Principal To Be Announced

The Eleanor Roosevelt High School committee to assist in the selection of a new principal has interviewed approximately six candidates. The committee's choice, confidential as of press time, has been submitted to Dr. Iris T. Metts, Prince George's County schools Superintendent. The announcement may be made at the August 3 school board meeting.

President Bill Souser introduced our speaker, the Greenbelt Police Department's School Resource officer, George Mathews. He spoke on crime prevention, the DARE program, the Citizens Police Academy, and the Maryland State Police Youth Academy.

On August 9, Joe Aulizio, manager of Greenbelt Auto & Truck Repair will speak on auto maintenance.

Cycle with Confidence After Taking a Class

In conjunction with the Greenbelt Bicycle Coalition, during August the city Recreation Department is offering a class in cycling with confidence. This course emphasizes operation of the bicycle as a vehicle for safer, more enjoyable cycling — whether for basic transportation or just recreation.

The three-session class will be held at the Youth Center on Tuesdays in August, beginning on August 8. Walk-in registrations are accepted at the Youth Center from 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday - Friday, until the class's first date. Refer to the Recreation Department summer brochure for exact course schedules and fees, or call the Recreation Department at 301-397-2200 or the Greenbelt Bicycle Coalition at 301-345-3062 for further information.

Clean Greenbelt Park

Help clean up Greenbelt Park and place mile markers on the trails.

Meet at the Ranger Station near the campground on Saturday, August 5 at 4 p.m. For more directions or information, call 301-344-3944.

Festival Notes

by Patti Brothers

This year's contestants are in the process of having their photos taken for the Little Miss, Junior Miss, and Miss Greenbelt pageants. The photos and brief written summaries about each girl will be provided in the souvenir program. Interviews and stories will be published in forthcoming editions of the News Review. The second of the pageant's fund-raising activities, a car wash, is scheduled for this Saturday, August 5 from 10 to 2 at Holy Cross Lutheran Church, located at Lakecrest Drive and Greenbelt Road. Please bring your cars and help the girls put on a great pageant.

Souvenir Program

Now in its fourth edition, the 2000 Greenbelt Labor Day Festival Souvenir Program will be available prior to the festival itself. The Program lists all Festival events, has features on entertainers and other Festival "stars," presents pictures and profiles of the Miss Greenbelt Pageant participants, provides the history and background of key Festival activities, and gives everyone the information they need to fully enjoy the Festival. Available at a nominal fee, it is a great keepsake item with its many photos for lasting memories. Contact Jeannie Smith at 301-345-1091 to place an ad or announcement or to reserve copies of the published program. The program will also be on sale at the Festival Information Booth during the festival.

Parade

Letters have gone out inviting groups and individuals to this year's parade on Labor Day. Past parades have featured many exciting acts, from within Greenbelt and from the surrounding area. If your group needs further information or explanation in preparing to participate in the parade, please call Linda Ivy at

Old-Timer Wayne Bochert Part-Time Local Resident

by Barbara Bonham Young

A cheerful Greenbelt pioneer known for mischief in the old days — Wayne Bochert, now a hale 71 — returned recently to reminisce and talk about his life today as a man with a mission.

School Daze

He was eight years old in October, 1937, when he moved to 6-S Hillside with his father, a U.S. Senate cabinetmaker, his mother, and his brother, Ray, Jr. The current News Review office used to be his classroom, he remembered, under elementary teacher Mrs. Walton when the Community Center was Greenbelt Center School. A childhood buddy of Frank Bauer and Billy Goodman, Bochert laughed as he also remembered something that happened in the adjoining auditorium area.

"A bunch of us were skipping class and were backstage in the dark. We were swinging on the curtains and tackling each other. But somebody thought they were tackling one of the guys, and they tackled the principal, Mrs. Reed, by mistake when she walked in."

He doesn't say what the punishment was for that, but he vividly remembers the time a few years later when the principal of Greenbelt High School, Mr.

Speicher, gave him "three whacks with a board" after he saw Bochert kick fellow student Grady Oldham in study hall. (Bochert says Oldham kicked him first.)

Bochert never graduated from Greenbelt High. "I was playing too much and flunking English and math," he remembers. "So in 1944 I quit and went to work. Then I came back to school in 1946. In 1948 I had my cap, my gown, my ring and my picture in the yearbook, but I couldn't graduate because at the last minute they told me I was a half a credit short." Apparently unembittered, he received a GED diploma in 1976.

Family and Travels

In 1964, Bochert's mother and father returned to Mrs. Bochert's birthplace, Dawson Springs, Kentucky. Married four times, Bochert raised two stepchildren and six biological children. He did a fair amount of moving: "In 1953 I went to California for a few years and then came back and lived in Greenbelt until the 1960s when I went to California again and bought a fast-food restaurant. In 1974 my father died and my (fourth) wife Christine and I came back to Dawson Springs. Christine died February 1, 1999."

His Mission

"I worked for the Catholic Church in Evansville, Indiana, ministering to the poor through the benevolent fund of Catholic Charities, and I stayed there 26 years. I just moved out of Evansville two weeks ago — I sold my house and gave everything away. It's funny, people want to buy stuff, they don't want to just take it. I didn't want the hassle of giving a garage sale.

"I bought a Class C motor home, and I minister to ministers. I get an urge to stop and tell a preacher what God tells me to tell him. I told a fellow one time that the next time I saw him, I'd tell him about his past, and when I walked in later, I knew what to say. In another case, I told the minister he was to start giving money to the poor. He said he'd pray about it.

"My camper is witness enough about Christianity," Bochert adds. "It says Jesus loves you enough to die for you."

Anti-Hunger Drive Needs Volunteers

she sang in the children's choir at the church, later in the treble choir, and still sings regularly with the adult group.

But since 1996 she has received the strongest gratitude of the community for her devoted chairmanship of the parents' committee for Grad Night — the celebration that keeps graduating ERHS seniors off the streets and occupied all night long in creative ways of having fun. She has done it three times — in 1996, in 1998 and, as her swan song, she declares, once again in this centennial year.

This time 525 tickets were sold, out of a class of 680 graduating seniors. Throughout the night, the chaperoning parents, plus members of the city's recreation department staff, stayed actively engaged; and when the party was over, at 6 a.m., they remained to tidy up. Just one hour later, she reports, "It was all cleaned up. You'd never know it was there."

Since Hull's third daughter, Kateri, is now moving on to college life, the time seems right for her mother to retire from this particular enterprise. But not yet from her career.

Another Way to Serve Children

In her work life Hull is a nurse manager in the Prince George's County school system. As a registered nurse, she assesses the individual situations of some 70 children with special needs in the orthopedic wing of C. T. Reed Elementary School in Lanham. The position entails making home visits, keeping in touch with special clinics, and working closely with private duty nurses and school nurses.

In addition, she identifies special problems among the 400 or so pre-school through kindergarten population within the district surrounding Chapel Forge Special Center in Bowie. This may mean working even with infants to define their needs and later perhaps arranging for their enrollment in preschool programs to help them develop motor or language skills. The goal of such interventions is to help as many children as possible to be mainstreamed into the regular academic program.

Last year was her third within the Prince George's County system. Previously she worked for eight years in Montgomery County. Besides the reduction in travel time in making the change, Hull appreciates being able to contribute to her own community.

Greenbelt Native

Hull grew up in Greenbelt, where her parents were founding members of the Community Church. Her oldest daughter, another Rena, who recently graduated from the University of Maryland, has also elected to stay in the city where she was born. She now lives in University Square and will have her first teaching post at Rockledge Elementary School in Bowie.

Daughter Lynn, a junior at Worcester Polytechnic in Massachusetts, majors in chemistry and is on both the swim and crew teams. Kateri, the youngest, will attend Goucher College in the fall.

All three girls took advantage of the musical programs at ERHS — Rena as violist, Lynn as cellist, and Kateri as trombonist. And who worked all those years in fund-raising to support the school's music programs? Anyone who fails to name the senior Rena Hull has automatically flunked the test.

"I wouldn't trade anything in," she says, "or get rid of anything." Truly the mark of an Outstanding Citizen.

Who's for 2000?

Rena Hull may be a hard act to follow, but Greenbelters know dozens of other volunteers who in special ways contribute to the positive quality of life for this community. And one of them will be chosen as Outstanding Citizen for 2000. Perhaps she or he will be your candidate.

Only a few days are left to make a nomination as nominations close this Monday, August 7. A nomination can be made by an individual or by many. There is a form elsewhere in this paper, but a signed letter written to Robert Zugby, Chair, at 94 Ridge Road, will do. This year's Outstanding Citizen will be announced and recognized at the opening ceremony of the Labor Day Festival, Friday, September 1.

GREENBELT NEWS REVIEW*Look Out for Ticks

Tick season is now! It is estimated that 1% of ticks in Maryland carry Rocky Mountain Spotted Fever and an unknown percent are infected with the cause of Lyme disease. A different kind of tick is involved with each disease. Some ticks are about the size of a pinhead. Both diseases have been found in Greenbelt.

Maryland ranks among the top six states for incidents of Lyme disease, according to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention. It cannot be caught from people, only from tick bites.

To prevent tick bites, avoid bushy, tall grassy areas. Cover the entire body thoroughly by wearing light-colored clothing, a hat, long-sleeved shirt and long pants tightly fitted at wrists and ankles and close to shoes. Examine one's body for ticks when coming in from these grassy areas.

Detaching Ticks

Carefully remove any ticks attached to the skin by gently detaching with tweezers, grasping the head of the tick until it releases its hold on the skin. Avoid touching it. Do not use a hot match or petroleum jelly as doing this may induce the infected tick to inject the bacterium. Research by the National Institutes of Health suggest that infection does not occur until a tick has been attached for 36 to 48 hours.

Symptoms

Symptoms appear three to 32 days after a tick bite. Most people will get a rash which starts as a small round area which usually spreads to two or more inches across. The center of the rash may give a bull's eye appearance. Some people will not get a rash; others will get a different kind of rash. Other symptoms are fever, headache, tiredness, stiff neck, joint pain and swollen lymph nodes. Without treatment, the heart, nervous system or joints may be affected weeks to months later. It is possible to get Lyme disease more than once.

A doctor may treat the disease with antibiotics. There is a vaccine available for people 15 to 70 years of age. It is important to seek medical attention as soon as possible.

Condolences to Public Works' employee Larry Dodson and family on the death of his father.

Amanda Baldauf has been named to the Dean's list at the University of Rochester. A junior majoring in environmental sciences, she is a graduate of Eleanor Roosevelt High School.

Former Ridge Rd. resident Meadow Wirick, daughter of Mac and Mary Wirick, was named First Group Scholar and was named again to the Dean's List at Smith College. First Group Scholars are recognized for their particularly high level of achievement and generally represent the top five percent of the class.

Meadow is a graduate of Eleanor Roosevelt High School and was a 1998 recipient of the Advisory Committee on Education (ACE) award and scholarship. A major in anthropology, she will spend the 2000-2001 academic year at the Universidaed de Seville in Spain.

A resident of Greenbriar Phase III since second grade Avery Bowden graduated from Eleanor Roosevelt High School with a 3.7 grade point average.

He has left to attend South Carolina State University where he will major in business and also play football. He was this area's #1 quarterback for MD, DC, and VA in private and public schools and made All Met.

Greenbriar Phase I Board Member Anne Chestnut recently received her certification as an Emergency Medical Technician (EMT) from the Maryland State Fire Rescue Institute. Anne is currently working as a volunteer firefighter and EMT with the Brentwood Fire Department.

Takeia Bradley graduated summa cum laude with a B.A. in psychology from Salisbury State University.

Kalenskie E. Gilliam, Sr., from Hanover Parkway, received a master of science degree in administration from Central Michigan University.

Congratulations all!

Army Pfc. Dwayne A. Kargbo recently completed a six-month deployment to Sinai, Egypt, as part of the Multinational Peacekeeping Forces and Observers (MFO). A 1997 graduate of Eleanor Roosevelt High school, he is the son of Joyce A. Owusu of Canning Terrace.

The City of Greenbelt, Department of Recreation announces a

CALL FOR PROPOSALS

Single year plans for interim use of all or part of a classroom on the second floor of the Greenbelt Community Center

Four classrooms at the Greenbelt Community Center are currently designated for use by the City's Artist in Residence Program. Artists in Residence are selected by jury. In some instances, a group of artists qualifying for participation may not wish to license all of the space reserved for the program. The Department of Recreation invites citizens of Greenbelt to offer suggestions for use of any remaining space under these circumstances.

The earliest time frame for possible implementation of new proposals will be July, 2001 through June, 2002. A determination will be made in May, 2001 as to whether space will be available for interim uses during that period. Proposed interim room uses must be feasible to implement on short notice and feasible to discontinue on short notice at the end of one year. Proposals should emphasize service to the community.

The Community Center will host a tour and informational session on Wednesday, August 9, at 7:30 pm. Written proposals are due by 4 pm on Thursday, August 31, to Joe McNeal, Community and telephone number in your proposal. For additional information, call Nicole DeWald, Arts Coordinator: 301-474-8000, ext. 107.

Greenbelt Elementary Students Find Honors Bring Rewards

In the last honor roll assemblies of the 1999-2000 school year on June 15, Greenbelt Elementary children found out how their hard work had paid off. Caring merchants from the Landover and Greenbelt areas donated prizes. Each honor roll child received a card which when presented to these merchants was good for something from that merchant. Honor roll children were:

GREENBELT NEWS REVIEW

A Review

80 'Creative Kids' Put on Extravaganza

by Virginia Beauchamp

Surely it's not possible in only two weeks to assemble 80 elementary school kids of all ages into enough of an ensemble to be able to put on a musical review! That's what you may think. But the city's Recreation Department staff members know otherwise. That's why they had the chutzpah to schedule the children of the Creative Kids day-camp program and to produce the extravaganza, "Millennium Jukebox." The dance and music program took place in two performances for parents and friends on Friday, July 21 in the Greenbelt Arts Center.

Directed by Chris Cherry, a teacher of drama in the M.F.A. program at George Washington University — and, as it turned out, also a composer and singer — "Millennium Jukebox" showcased songs representing each decade of the last century, starting with the 1920s. In that simpler era, the littlest performers' innocence was as sunny as the words to the song they danced to, "Keep your sunny side up."

All their faces were framed with yellow construction paper rays, turning them into individual suns. At the morning performance one little fellow's paper circle wouldn't stay in place and he stood there tugging at it, unable to dance until he got it set just right.

The rest of them went on blithely beaming, oblivious to his clouded countenance.

The seven-year-olds were birds. They wore half-masks painted in bright colors they had made themselves, each with a pointy beak. "Sing, Baby, Sing" was the 1930s song they danced to.

clude: Baskin-Robbins, Beltway Plaza; Cetones Pizza and K-Mart, Cipriano Square Plaza; Domino's Pizza, Generous Joe's Deli, Greenbelt American Legion Post 136, Greenbelt Aquatic and Fitness Center, Greenbelt Arts Center, Greenbelt Elementary School PTA, Greenbelt Homes, Inc., Greenbelt Lions Club, Greenbelt Recreation Department and Greenbelt Video, Greenbelt; Domino's Pizza, Glenarden; I.H.O.P., Cinnabon, and Kid City, Landover Mall.

Like all the other dancing groups, they were accompanied professionally at the keyboard by Stefan Brodd and all the songs were set within the framing device of having been selected by an out-of-galaxy visitor on a magic jukebox. That was Cherry, who, as he said, was no human but a holograph. He first appeared to a bunch of campers around a camp fire — the oldest group of performers — who began and ended the show with songs written by Cherry.

Unaccountably, to himself as to them and the audience, he found himself in an Elizabethan costume. That made sense no doubt when he later, as a solo, gave a vocal rendition of "Greensleeves." If one is roaming through time musically, perhaps a few centuries ago is as good as a few decades.

Other groups of children danced to "Swingin' on a Star" wearing face masks of animals named in the song, donkeys, pigs, and fish for the 1940s; "Rock Around the Clock," in bobby sox and bright skirts,

Used Books Needed

Bookshelves overflowing? The PTA of Greenbelt Elementary School is now collecting used books for their book booth at the Labor Day Festival.

People are asked to drop off their books to a box in the Co-op supermarket. The box will be emptied frequently.

A special pickup for large donations can be arranged. Call 301-474-5382.

Volunteers are needed to help with the booth. Call the above number to volunteer.

each with one or more appliqued poodles for the 1950s; "Surfin' USA" of the 1960s, with noses painted white against the sun and dark glasses; and "Last Dance" from the 1970s.

It was apparent that they had had devoted direction during their two weeks of preparation, from choreographer Kelly Mayfield, costume designer Mabel Liles and musical director Georgia Hughes. And that the two-week program deserved its name, for what it produced was truly Creative Kids.

WHO WILL BE NEXT?

Please help the Outstanding Citizen Committee find the first outstanding citizen in the new millennium. Submit your nomination for that person whose volunteer service to our community has made him or her your choice to be the Greenbelt Outstanding Citizen of 2000.

Springhill Lake kids attend Mystics game in "Kids Night Out" program.

Springhill Lake Kids Charmed by Mystics

by Renée Landen

Greenbelt got a taste of magic at the MCI Center on July 15, as 26 kids from Springhill Lake participated in the first "Kids Night Out" hosted by the Washington Mystics.

The Mystics, Washington's own WNBA team and a very community oriented organization, established the "Kids Night Out" program to provide disadvantaged children the opportunity to attend a Mystics game. For each number of tickets purchased in a sponsorship package, the Mystics donated an equal number of tickets. The City of Greenbelt purchased a Three Point Package consisting of tickets and T-shirts for 15 children. The Washington Mystics matching with another 15 tickets presented more children the opportunity to see the Mystics in action.

Selecting of a group of disadvantaged kids in Springhill Lake came through a suggestion from Peggy Cain, director of Community Relations at Springhill Lake Apartments. She recommended PG County Department of Social Services Transitional Housing program that assists families make the transition from homelessness to self-sufficiency. Springhill Lake has several families in this program and the kids were excited to have this opportunity.

The trip began at the Springhill Lake Recreation Center where the 26 boys and girls received Mystics t-shirts, loaded into three city recreation vans and proceeded on a magical trip to the MCI Center. Phyllis Graves and Rita Harris, two staff members of PG County Transitional Housing, Jen O'Neill of the Recreation Department, and three members of the Neighborhood Improvement Team; Gordon Pracht of the Police Department, Renée Landen of Planning and Community Development and Silke Pope, a resident of Springhill Lake, accompanied the children, ranging in age from 6 to 17.

"Kids Night Out" wasn't the only game in town as the Mystics were also holding a canned food drive to support the Capital Area Food Bank. Every child with a ticket and a non-perishable food item received a coupon for a future Washington Mystics game. Carol Pelosi, a Greenbelt resident hearing about our local kids going to the game, donated canned food for each child to bring to the game.

mous employee of the MCI Center ensured each child was well fed with both. The initial purchase only included 15 t-shirts, leaving the remaining children without one. Kevin Nawrocki of the Washington Mystics came from backcourt with a few more shirts and the City of Greenbelt completed the play with the rest, making sure everyone was covered.

The Washington Mystics were playing host to the Charlotte Sting, and lost 76-73. All was not lost though, as the magic was still there for a group of kids from Springhill Lake. They brought their enthusiasm, cheers and dreams to see the Washington Mystics play in person, and they left with joy, pride and dreams to see them again.

GIVES Needs Help from Pet Lovers

GIVES has received some requests from the frail population of the community for pet care in emergency situations. People who love pets and want to help meet this need are asked to call the GIVES office at 301-507-6580 any weekday morning or Thursday afternoon.

Plans are going ahead to staff a Saturday-before-Labor Day information table. Volunteers who are willing to give an hour or two are asked to call Betty Petroff at 301-474-8841.

The quarterly meeting of the board of Greenbelt Intergenerational Volunteer Exchange Service will be held on Saturday, August 5, at 10 a.m. in the Greenbelt Community Center.

GREENBELT AQUATIC & FITNESS CENTER

2000 SUMMER CHILDREN'S LESSONS - SESSION IV

In-person registration, first-come, first-served basis. All classes have a limit on enrollment. Early registration improves your chances of getting the class you want!! All registrants must sign up at the Greenbelt Aquatic & Fitness Center for aquatic & fitness classes.

REFUNDS: The Greenbelt Aquatic & Fitness Center reserves the right to cancel classes due to insufficient registrants or causes beyond its control. Refunds will be made if classes are canceled by the Center. Other refunds will be made according to the provisions in the City of Greenbelt Resolution No. 65, which also requires that refund requests, for valid reasons, are to be submitted immediately in writing to the GAFC.

CITY RESIDENCY: Greenbelt residents are those who pay taxes to the City of Greenbelt AND are eligible to vote in City elections. That is as it should be, as our residents pay taxes to support the Recreation Centers and the Aquatic & Fitness Center in our community. However, just because someone has a Greenbelt address, does not necessarily mean they pay taxes to the City of Greenbelt and are able to vote in City elections. We want to be fair to the people whose tax money supports our programs. If you are not sure that you have a Greenbelt address, are able to vote in City elections, and pay City taxes, call 301-397-2204.

All registrants registering as resident non-passholders must show proof to receive Greenbelt resident status. Acceptable Proof: Valid license or current lease.

MAINSTREAMING: Anyone who is physically, mentally, and/or emotionally challenged is encouraged to participate in any of the Aquatic & Fitness Center's programs. If you need any special assistance, please call 301-397-2208 or TTY 301-474-1811 and ask for Karen Haseley.

The City of Greenbelt is seeking Requests for Proposals for the following project:

Design of an addition and renovation to the Springhill Lake Recreation Center located at 6101 Cherrywood Lane, Greenbelt, Maryland 20770.

The Springhill Lake Recreation Center is a multi-use, intergenerational recreation facility.

The proposal shall include the scope of services, lump sum cost proposal, hourly rates for additional services, a listing of relevant experience for project personnel, reimbursables, and any exclusions. This project consists of all aspects of the architectural design and engineering of an addition and renovation of existing spaces to be used for before & after school care, pre-school opportunities, drop-in free play, fitness/health programs for seniors, computer lab arts classes for all ages, and meeting space for community groups. The approximate square footage of the proposed addition is 3,000 S.F.

This project is funded with a grant from the State of Maryland and therefore the project must meet the State of Maryland requirements.

More detailed information regarding the Request For Proposal may be picked up at the Greenbelt Community Center located at 15 Crescent Road, Greenbelt, Maryland 20770, Monday through Friday between the hours of 9:00 am and 4:30 pm.

An opportunity to visit the existing facility and site will be on Tuesday, August 22, 2000 at 10:00 am.

Proposals to provide services must be submitted to Joe McNeal at the Greenbelt Community Center, 15 Crescent Road, Greenbelt, Maryland 20770 by Wednesday, September 6, 2000 by 4:30 pm.

Please contact Joe McNeal at 301-397-2208 with any questions regarding this project.

PAK

claims, "but she never said don't do that; you can't see." By nature Pak thinks of himself as aggressive.

In addition to his mother, Pak attributes his positive experiences to attending ERHS, a premier high school in the nation that received the New American High School Award from the U.S. Department of Education. He has enjoyed being socially accepted by his peers and teachers. Like many young men he enjoys following sports. With the help of beeper balls and bases, he played baseball with his sighted friends.

His parents "made him" study music — piano, flute, drums, and guitar — but he never developed an interest in playing. But he listens with pleasure to a variety of music, from rock and roll to classical, and he says music helps him understand people. A good student, he prefers courses in history and law. As a senior he will take advanced placement psychology and language classes. Math and science are not high on his list of interests.

What series of events has drawn him to a career in law? First of all, his parents encouraged him, and his cousin works at the Alexandria City Police Department. Neighbors are employed by the Maryland and Prince George's County police departments, and following the O. J. Simpson trial piqued his interest as well.

During his junior year at ERHS, Pak was on the teen court in the Prince George's Judicial system in Upper Marlboro. He and his peers heard and determined sentences in actual cases in which juveniles had already pleaded guilty to misdemeanor charges. Thus, when ERHS offered a 16-week program called the Criminal Justice Youth Academy this spring, Pak applied, was accepted, and was certified.

Following graduation in May 2001, Pak expects to major in political science at a small college, perhaps Goucher or Mount St. Mary's College. His long-term goal is to become a fully productive member of the work force on equal terms with sighted co-workers. He wants to study political science, become a lawyer, and perhaps be a judge some day.

High School/High Tech

Pak credits the High School/High Tech program under the umbrella of the President's Committee on Employment of People with Disabilities for his achievements. At ERHS the program serves only a limited number of those eligible, and only seven of 22 high schools in this district are involved.

High School/High Tech services are provided free to eligible students with disabilities and to their families. Its purpose is to introduce youths with disabilities to high tech careers by testing their interests and abilities in science, engineering, and technology-related fields. HS/HT students with potential for success are actively recruited for this program, which provides field trips and training experiences, offers major workshops focusing on high tech careers, and provides a resource bank of information and mentors.

Festival Art Exhibit Seeks Local Talent

This year will be the 37th Art Show held as part of Greenbelt's Labor Day Festival. There are actually two shows, one for children and teens and one for adults, at the Greenbelt Community Center. Anyone who lives, works, or goes to school in Greenbelt may enter by bringing their artwork Friday, September 1, from 5 to 7 p.m. to the Greenbelt Community Center. No pre-registration is necessary. Awards are given in both shows. Art work entered must be completely original and be ready for display (adult 2-dimensional work should be framed with wire attached, children's 2-dimensional work should be mounted or matted but need not be framed). Adult participants are asked to help with either hanging the shows Friday night or by sitting during the show hours. The art shows are co-sponsored by the Greenbelt Association for the Visual Arts. Please call Barbara Simon, Art Show's chair, at 301-474-2192 if there are any questions, or pick up a flyer with more details at the Greenbelt Community Center or Greenbelt Library.

Greenbelt Aquatic and Fitness Center

Belly Dancer Artemis Makes Waves at Pool

by Julia Kender

The pool party on the night of July 29 was meant to draw a crowd but, probably due to uncertain weather conditions, it seemed like an ordinary evening, with people swimming and splashing around. We anticipated the arrival of the belly dancer, Elizabeth Mourat.

When she appeared, Elizabeth, or "Artemis," which she uses as her professional name, was dressed in an outfit that included blue streamers and sequins, bejeweled neck- and armbands, blue split-leg pants, a multicolored wraparound veil, a blue head scarf with gold coins, and silver shoes.

As the pool lights shone on her outfit, the fun began. Greenbelt stepped out of the 20th century and into "Arabian Nights." The music started and there was Artemis, twisting and twirling on the deck, clanging her castanets, or "zills," as she called them, chest heaving, hips and belly swaying.

During a pause, Carol Mealey introduced Artemis, who is of Greek and Turkish ancestry and has been teaching and dancing for 25 years. She then gave free instruction to the kids and a few lifeguards, including a dancing technique for balancing a cane on the ends of the fingers.

An advocate for Gypsy rights, Artemis closed the performance by dancing to a Turkish rhythm, or "karsilama."

Kids of all ages follow Artemis' lead.

POLICE BLOTTER

Based on information released by the Greenbelt Police Department. Dates and times are those when police were first contacted about incidents.

Armed Robbery

6000 block of Greenbelt Road, July 21, 6:21 p.m., persons reported that as they were walking down Greenbelt Road they were approached by two men who demanded their sneakers. One of the robbers displayed a small silver semiautomatic handgun. After obtaining the victim's sneakers, the robbers fled into the parking lot of Beltway Plaza, where they entered a red four-door Chevrolet. One suspect is described as a black male, 20 years of age, 5'8", and 150 lbs., with black hair, brown eyes, a dark complexion, and braces. He was wearing a stocking cap and jeans shorts. The second suspect is described as a black male, 18 years of age, 5'10", and 150 lbs., with black hair in cornrows and brown eyes; he was wearing a white tank top, jeans, blue and black tennis shoes, and a black cap.

Café Continental in the 6400 block of Ivy Lane, July 26, 5:12 a.m., a man was about to enter the restaurant when he was approached by two men who had just exited a vehicle and run up to him. The men produced handguns and demanded money from him. One of them punched him in the face and threatened to shoot him. After obtaining the victim's wallet, the robbers ordered him to go into the restaurant to obtain more money. After obtaining a deposit bag containing money and checks, the robbers fled the scene in the vehicle, described as a dark blue 1980s domestic two-door.

Strong-Armed Robbery

9100 block of Edmonston Court, July 24, 7:45 p.m., an occupant of an apartment answered a knock at his door and a man asked for someone who did not live at the residence. Approximately ten minutes later, an occupant of the same apartment answered another knock at the door, at which time a man grabbed him by the throat and told him to go back into the residence. Four men then removed several items from the apartment. One of the victims called the police, and the robbers were observed loading the stolen items into a vehicle. Officers stopped the vehicle in the area of Kenilworth Avenue and Greenbelt Road and placed the occupants under arrest. Charged with two counts of robbery, two counts of false imprisonment, burglary, and theft were: Kevin Lamont Wright, 25, of 9136 Edmonston Ct., Greenbelt; Jerome Azvel Key, 45, of 913 Edmonston Terr., Greenbelt; Anthony Matral Nathan, 23, of Seat Pleasant and Dovell Lamont McCord, 25, of Bowie. Nathan was also charged with second degree assault. All were released to the Department of Corrections for a hearing before a district court commissioner.

Flim-Flam Report

Beltway Plaza Mall, July 25, a woman reported that on July 18 at 10 a.m. she was approached by a woman inside the Giant Supermarket. The stranger asked the woman if she had lost the purse that she had found. The woman told her that the purse was not hers. The stranger told the woman that there was a large sum of money in the purse. At this time a second stranger arrived on the scene. The first told the second about the contents of the purse, and they agreed to go into the parking lot and split up the money three ways, including the victim. The strangers convinced the woman to put up several hundred dollars to "mix up the serial numbers" of the found money, which she claimed to be $35,000. The woman then obtained a personal check from her sister, returned to the scene, and went to a local bank to cash it for the strangers. All three individuals then drove back to the front parking lot of Beltway Plaza. One of the strangers told the woman to go to her office in the 7900 block of Cherrywood Lane. The woman walked to the building and found the office was locked. When she came back to the parking lot, both the strangers and her money were gone. One of the suspects is described as a black female in her forties, 5'6", 175 lbs., with grey hair and brown eyes and wearing a black straw hat and dark clothing; the second is described as a black female in her forties, 5'10", 135 lbs., with black hair and brown eyes and wearing a long black dress. The vehicle is described as a large maroon four-door.

Counterfeit Currency

Wendy's at Beltway Plaza Mall, July 22, 10:20 p.m., a 22-year-old male nonresident attempted to pay his food bill with a counterfeit $20 bill. He was detained on the scene and was released into the custody of the United States Secret Service without charges pending investigation.

Burglary and Theft

Value City at Beltway Plaza Mall, July 22, 5:47 p.m., a wallet was taken from an unattended purse in a restroom.

McDonald baseball field, July 23, 3:51 p.m., a storage building was broken into.

Roosevelt Center, July 23, 9:38 p.m., a navy blue Mongoose Pro's X 20-inch bicycle was stolen.

Beltway Plaza Mall, July 27, 2:29 p.m., an unattended book bag and its contents were reported stolen at the video arcade.

A Greenbelt Gardener

by Rosie Rhubarb

I can't remember another spring and summer when we received the amount of rain needed for the garden to do well. Every other June and July I would have to water with frequency. The 9200 block of Springhill Lane, July 23, 12:17 p.m., a 31-year-old female resident was arrested and charged with malicious destruction. Officers responded to a report of a person ramming a car into an apartment building. The woman was arrested on the scene and charged on a citation. A computer check revealed that she had an open warrant with the Prince George's County sheriff's department. She was released to the sheriff's department for service of the warrant.

Vandalism

Vehicle Crimes

The following vehicles were reported stolen: a blue four-door 1994 Honda Accord with Maryland tags GRV 847, July 23, from the 6100 block of Breezewood Court; a blue two-door 1995 Honda Accord with D.C. tags AJ5663, July 27, from the 5800 block of Cherrywood Terrace; and a black two-door 1989 Acura Legend with Maryland tags ESK 411, July 27, from the 9200 block of Edmonston Road.

weather pattern could change back to the norm at any time so enjoy while you can the respite from the chore of watering.

For some plants and some spots, it has been too much rain. Spots in the garden that don't drain well or quickly have been waterlogged at times. Plants in these spots could die just because there is too much water for them. Several plants in my garden died from too much water and several look sickly. All are very drought tolerant plants — lisanthus and achillea — that do not need much water and have gotten too much.

On the other hand, some plants have never looked so good. My lemon balm herb plants (melissa) are twice their usual size. Some plants seem to be catching up from last year's drought induced stress.

Try to keep up with weeding the garden. With the hot weather and frequent rain, weeds can grow quite quickly. Even a few minutes now and then hoeing or pulling out the biggest weeds can be a big help in the long run.

In the flower garden the annual summer flowers are really taking off. The little plants purchased this spring have gotten large and covered with flowers. The flowers planted from seedling right in the garden are blooming. These plants love this hot, sunny weather.

City of Greenbelt COMMUNITY MEDIATION BOARD

The City of Greenbelt has re-established a Community Mediation Board under the auspices of the Prince George's County Human Relations Commission. This Board is comprised of city residents who have volunteered to receive mediation training and be available to mediate disputes between neighbors.

Mediation consists of a step by step problem solving process that results in the involved parties agreeing on a fair solution. Mediation serves as an alternative to litigation and brings both parties to the table on an equal basis. A mediator does not act as an advocate of either party. He/she reserves judgment and does not voice opinion.

Types of problems mediated may be noisy neighbors, barking dogs, trespassing children, blocked driveways, family feuds, littering, loitering, neighboring property neglect, small claims matters, etc.

Mediation services will be available at the Greenbelt Community Center on the second Tuesday and fourth Wednesday of each month. Any Greenbelt citizen who wishes to make use of this free service should call the Human Resources Officer, City of Greenbelt, 301-345-7203.

Greenbelt Aquatic and Fitness Center ADMISSION POLICY CHANGE

Non-residents will not be able to purchase daily admissions to the pool and fitness center on weekends and holidays unless they are guests of a passholder or a Greenbelt resident.

Guest fees are as follows:
$5.00/youth (1 - 13 years)
$7.00/adult (14 - 59 years)
$5.00/senior (60 years & older)

WE NEED YOUR HELP!!

In order to implement these changes, anyone wishing to pay a daily admission fee must present a valid I.D. proving Greenbelt residency.

Also, passholders and residents bringing in guests must remain in the facility with them and will be responsible for their guests.

GREENBELT

Volunteer Fire Department and Rescue Squad, Inc.

Dear Citizens and Business owners of Greenbelt:

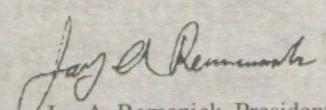

The Greenbelt Volunteer Fire Dept. & Rescue Squad Inc., is well into our annual fund drive. We are a little bit behind our monetary goal of last years fund drive.

If you have not yet made your donation, it is not too late to do so. If you have misplaced your donation package, you may fill out your name and address on a card or piece of paper and send it along with your check to the Greenbelt Vol. Fire Dept. P.O. Box 35. Greenbelt, MD 20768. You may also drop your donation off at the firehouse. One of our members will gladly accept it.

We would also like to remind you that we are accepting applications for membership. Please feel free to contact the firehouse at 301-345-7000.

Remember we only conduct our fund drive through the mail. Please do not accept any solicitations over the telephone by anyone representing himself or herself as someone from Greenbelt Fire Dept.

Thank you for your support.

Lessons Learned by Local Lakers Strengthen Team

by Coach Doug

There are some youths in this neighborhood who need saluting. I am extremely proud of, and appreciative of these youths for the efforts they are displaying. These kids, who are dedicating themselves every Wednesday and Saturday night (since June), make up the Springhill Lake Lakers summer basketball team. The Lakers, the only local team in the six-team league that plays on Wednesday nights at the Springhill Lake Recreation Center, have had their struggles. The Lakers, who took their name because of a grant received from the Springhill Lake Apartment complex's Community Relations Manager Peggy Cain, are learning to be grateful for the opportunity of playing a sport they truly enjoy and love, and wanting to represent their community. As their coach, or instructor, for these vast lessons in sports life the intrinsic lesson to be taught has been overcoming disappointment.

When the team was initially formed, the L.A. Lakers had just won their NBA championship, and I believe the kids thought that we, too, would win a championship. With belief being an essential element in achieving success and obtaining goals, the kids had high expectations. Along with high expectations, there is the possibility of shortcomings, failure and disappointments.

When we started we had a full roster of 14 players and the first disappointment was in losing players to bad grades, waning interest, summer vacations and moves to other communities. We have struggled to have enough players to challenge ourselves at practice as well as suiting up enough athletes to compete during games.

I have tried to instill in them that their efforts are how they should gauge themselves, not by the results. That means hard work with steady progress, as to wins and losses. It is hard for the young to understand progress when they want things to happen so quickly. It is hard to be disciplined and structured when confidence is shaky. After losing the first game 31 - 20 the team was a little disheartened. When they lost the second, third, fourth, and fifth games the team's confidence was desperately challenged. Coach Ricky and I told them that with each game we were showing more offensive improvement, scoring more points than the game before, but that concentration lapses and mental mistakes on defense were preventing us from keeping the game close at the end and giving us a chance to prevail. In game six they again topped their previous high score by posting 26 points, but because of the inability to master their full court press, they were unable to slow down and prevent another defeat.

The Game

On July 19, after an exceptional practice on Saturday, the Lakers learned something amazing about themselves. The coaches had again stated that they were with four fouls each. The pace was frantic, with the team trying to remain calm. Our opponents tied the score at 26 but with seconds left we had several chances to score from inside the paint before the ball was tipped out of play with the horn sounding. Overtime was a first for the Lakers. They started the three-minute session slightly stunned that they were still playing and mostly optimistic that they could pull this game out with a win. Midway through the overtime they lost another participant to fouls, this time the team's point man Brainard, was forced to sit out. With a 30 - 28 lead on two free throws by Ricardo they were still unsure of themselves ... could they hang on, would they make the big play, would their efforts go unnoticed? With the score tied at 30 - 30 they planned to hold the ball for the last shot 33 seconds from a possible favorable outcome. That didn't happen. They turned the ball over and escaped with another chance in double overtime.

Double Overtime

With all available players on the court they entered the second period a little drained. They continued to hold on with good free throw shooting and defense until a blocking foul was called on Sergio fouling him out and leaving the Lakers with only four players. When Phillip hit on two free throws, the score was 34 - 32, a two point deficit, they would be Phillip's last, as he would join the bench. Now the bench was stronger in numbers than those on the court! With the outcome still in question at 36 - 33 and the game clock showing 20 seconds they got their last chance with a foul call and a two shot foul attempt. Tired and worn down from a tough 34-minute battle, the shots fell short and the game ended.

*Each resident passholder is permitted to bring in two guests per entry at $5.00/guest.

**Greenbelt Schools include Greenbelt Elementary, St. Hugh's Elementary, Springhill Lake Elementary, Greenbelt Middle School, Eleanor Roosevelt High School.

Non-Resident Annual Fees

7 and under	must be accompanied by and directly supervised by an adult 18 years of age or older who is a card holder
8-12	$10.00/from date of purchase to June 30, 2001—parent signature required
13-17	$25.00/from date of purchase to June 30, 2001
18+	$50.00/from date of purchase to June 30, 2001

*Non-resident passholders are not permitted to bring in guests.

*Any non-resident who does not have a current pass must be a paid guest of a resident passholder or purchase a facility i.d.

Weight Room Passes—for Greenbelt residents only

14-17	with written parent permission only
18+	proof of residency required

FEES:

$40.00	July 1 - September 30	$20.00	January 1 - March 31
$30.00	October 1 - December 31	$10.00	April 1 - June 30

were with four fouls each. The pace was frantic, with the team trying to remain calm. Our opponents tied the score at 26 but with seconds left we had several chances to score from inside the paint before the ball was tipped out of play with the horn sounding. Overtime was a first for the Lakers. They started the three-minute session slightly stunned that they were still playing and mostly optimistic that they could pull this game out with a win. They turned the ball over and escaped with another chance in double overtime.

This new-found belief in themselves and their team mates will be just what they need to finish out this season; and future seasons that they choose to participate in.

Another loss, but this time it was different. They had played their hearts out. They had made mistakes, but had learned they were good enough to win when they played at their highest level.

These Lakers are Andrew Mangum, Farone Williams, Sergio Miranda, Ricardo Ruiz-Soto, Shomari Maynard, Brainard

Hyson, Phillip McPhatter, and, not available, Leshade Griggs.

I am extremely pleased with their efforts, their ability to work hard and learn new things, their joy for the game, their perseverance against challenges and, of course, their dealings with me. I can be a little demanding. Thanks to Ricky, Paul, Farone, Sonia (the snacks person) and Springhill Lake Apartments. They will continue to try their best and learn to accept (where the chips fall) the results, good or bad. Kudos also to their fans!

Bring Brazil to Greenbelt

Somewhere in Brazil, there is a teenager dreaming about America. That teenager dreams of perfecting his or her English, sharing stories of life in Brazil that a Greenbelt family won't see or hear on television or the internet, and learning everything he or she can about American culture. But most importantly, that teenager dreams of becoming part of an American family.

For more than 19 years, Academic Year in America (AYA), a program sponsored by the American Institute for Foreign Study (AIFS) Foundation, a not-for-profit organization, has brought international students between the ages of 15 to 18 1/2 to the U.S.

These bright young "ambassadors" of Brazil will arrive in August with full medical insurance, their own spending money, solid academic records and English skills — as well as great hopes.

Free Tree Guide

"What Tree Is That?" a pocket guide for identifying trees, is available free from the National Arbor Day Foundation.

The 72-page guide will help people identify 135 different trees found in the eastern and central United States. The guide covers well-known trees such as oaks, maples, spruces, and pines, as well as less familiar ones such as horsechestnut and mockernut hickory, sassafras and shadblush, persimmon, pawpaw, pagoda tree and pecan.

Drawings illustrate the trees' leaves or needles and their acorns, berries, seed pods, and cones. "What Tree Is That?" is organized to make it easy to identify trees.

To obtain a copy, send name and address to "What Tree Is That?" National Arbor Day Foundation, Nebraska City, NE 68410.

Buying Club Scam Warning

The Maryland Attorney General's Consumer Protection Division is warning consumers about a new scam that uses tricky mailings to financially trap consumers into a costly, unwanted membership in a buying club.

The scam often begins with an offer that is allegedly a "thank you" following a transaction with a different company. The purchaser is offered two free airline tickets and a trial membership in a discount buying club (perceived to be also free). That offer is followed by mailing a letter and buying club membership card with promises

ST. HUGH'S

She started out by quizzing the crowd on St. Hugh's facts, with correct answers earning a prize. She then updated the alumni on various projects, events, and accomplishments either in the planning stage, underway, or already accomplished by various faculty, staff, students, and volunteers. She concluded by emphasizing the important role of the Alumni Association in the school's future.

Open House

The Open House that followed provided an opportunity for alumni to visit their former classrooms, look for their signatures underneath the coat racks of certain classrooms, and tell countless stories recalling events from the past. One topic of discussion dealt with air raid drills performed by the students during the Cuban Missile Crisis. One group of alumni were found in what they called the "Detention Room." They had written their names on the chalkboard and were placing checks next to them. Everyone enjoyed the wonderful displays on the bulletin boards in the hall outside of each classroom prepared by current students to welcome the alumni back to the school.

Afterward, the success of the cookout/picnic was the precision grilling of hamburgers and hot dogs carried out by the McAndrew men. Brothers Tom ('68), Mike ('74), and Pat ('76) worked feverishly to keep up with the demand, while their father, Tom, Sr., served in an advisory capacity. Kathleen McFarland, the mother of eight St. Hugh's alumni, greeted people at the registration table. Among several former Greenbelters were Joe and Beverly Izzo of Laurel, who enjoyed visiting with their former neighbors, the Kellahers and the Lloyds, and Betty Bergin, now living in Rehoboth, DE, who attended with her son Bob and his wife. Former Pastor Monsignor O'Donnell was greeted happily by many in the crowd, who were delighted to see him again. Dee Downs, the mother of eight alumni, said to Alumni Association Co-Chair Kathleen Fitzgerald Schiavone ('74), "This is the first time our family has gotten together in several years." Irene Hensel, with her children and grandchildren, now including two sets of twins, was also warmly greeted. After all of the food, drink, music, and ceremonies, aren't such moments what reunions are really about?

(Kathleen McFarland helped contribute to this article.)

St. Hugh's alumni enjoy a picnic and Open House at the school following an Alumni Mass at church Sunday morning.

Former students Neil Donnelly '72 (left) and Jay Donnelly '67 (right) visit with teacher Helen Aulizio. Mrs. Aulizio taught at St. Hugh's from 1962-1970 and traveled from her home in Lakeland, Florida to attend the reunion.

Former St. Hugh's principal, Sister Elizabeth Raffo meets with current principal Mary Elizabeth Whelan at the St. Hugh's reunion held in July, 2000.

Play 19th Century Games at Marietta

Summer Fun Days at Marietta for children ages 4 - 12 will be held on Sunday, August 6, from 2 - 4 p.m. at Marietta House Museum, 5626 Bell Station Road, Glenn Dale.

Pay a visit to 19th century Marietta and participate in the art of bubble-making. Experiment with making bubble shaping forms, different soap recipes and take part in the "championship" bubble races. The 19th Century Games is the fourth in a series of six Sunday activities for children designed to help them learn more about life in the 1800s. Reservations are required and there is a fee per person per week. For information, call 301-464-5291 or TTY 301-699-2544.
